STAR HOTEL WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE EARLY MONDAY MORNING

Watervliet Hotel Ruined in Early Morning Blaze. Fireman M. E. Potter Dropped Dead From Over Exertion

Watervliet's Star Hotel is almost in complete ruins and Marion E. Potter, member of the local fire department is dead, as the result of a fire that broke out in the kitchen part of the hotel about four o'clock Monday morning. The entire rear end of the frame structure was a mass of flames when Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth James, who have been managing the hotel, were awakened by the breaking of glass cans in the kitchen. They hastily got on a few clothes and Mr. James awakened the other two occupants of rooms in the hotel, A. J. Sutherland of Watervliet and Robert Lomax of Lawrence, Massachusetts. The four escaped into the street from the smoke filled building in scanty attire, carrying such other garments as they could hurriedly gather up in their hands.

The Watervliet fire company responded to the alarm with its usual promptness and for three hours valiantly fought the flames before the fire was under control. When it was seen that the hotel was probably doomed with the possibility that the fire might spread to adjacent buildings, a call was sent to Coloma for assistance. The Coloma truck and several firemen made a record run and were soon assisting the local company in fighting the flames. Five streams of water were kept pouring onto the fire for three hours before it was under control.

The firemen, assisted by a few other citizens, fought the fire in the near zero temperature. Drenched to the skin, their clothing coated with ice, Chief Young and his fire-fighters kept steady streams of water pouring onto the mass of flames. Men sealed the ice covered roof and cut holes through which streams of water could be poured. The flames clung tenaciously to the old frame timbers and joists despite the flood of water. The fire worked back under the roof of the banquet hall section of the building, threatening the Milling Company buildings to the west and the frame structures of the Smith Ice Cream company on the north.

Watervliet's fire-fighting apparatus as well as the firemen gave a good account of itself in the three-hour battle. The rotary pump kept the pressure in the mains up and there was in reserve the big supply in the tank and the paper mill connection with its vast water supply to draw upon if needed.

Marion Potter Dropped Dead With Water Hose in Hand

A tragic ending to battle with the fire was the sudden death of Marion E. Potter, veteran member of the Watervliet company. Mr. Potter responded with the others and worked until the fight was won. He was working with Fireman Jack Clark loading sections of fire hose on the truck when he collapsed and sank to the pavement. He was carried into the Thomas barber shop, but was dead when a physician arrived. Over exertion and the excitement incident to the fire is believed to have brought on a heart attack. Mr. Potter had been a member of the company for a number of years and took great pride and interest in it. He always responded when it was possible to do so and was recognized as an efficient and able fire fighter.

The body was removed to the Keasey undertaking establishment and later to his home on Pleasant street.

Mr. Potter, whose age is reported as 68 years, had been a resident of Watervliet and vicinity all his life. For many years he operated a blacksmith shop first in Coloma and later at Watervliet. For the past few years he has been with the Watervliet paper mill. He was a good citizen and a man of many excellent qualities.

Answered Another Alarm

While the firemen were still at work on the hotel fire at about 7:30 o'clock a second alarm came in from the F. W. Emerson residence in Sutherland avenue. The truck and a part of the crew responded. The fire proved to be somewhat rubbish in the basement and was quickly extinguished with little damage.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Tony Potter, Benton Harbor druggist, two sisters and a brother.

Hotel Loss Estimated at $20,000

The hotel and furnishings are considered almost a total loss, and while no definite estimate has been placed on the loss, the total is believed to be at least $20,000. The building was owned by Mrs. F. M. Sterner, who went to St. Petersburg, Florida, with her family some weeks ago. How much of the building loss is covered by insurance is not known here. The furnishings of the hotel were owned by O. R. Smith, who has operated the hotel for a number of years. Mr. Smith also owns and operates the Star Hotel at Covert. Mr. Smith carried $5,000 insurance.

The hotel building which was one of Watervliet's oldest structures was built by E. Woolcott in 1881 or 1882. A few years ago the present owner modernized the building, putting in a heating plant and other improvements. The hotel had about 25 sleeping rooms. The shoe shop on the rear of the lot, occupied by J. H. Ramer & Son, and that adjoining the hotel, escaped damage.

Hobo Gave Assistance

A hobo on a passing freight train saw the fire and unloaded to give the alarm. He pounded on the hotel door and shouted fire just as Mr. and Mrs. James had been awakened by the noise of the fire and the smoke. The unknown "knight of the road" gave valuable assistance before the firemen arrived and worked effectively with them. He was served a good meal at the Dill restaurant along with the firemen, but later when Chief Young looked around for him to make some further reward for his service, the fellow disappeared.

Whether or not the hotel will be rebuilt is not known at this writing. Mrs. Sterner was advised by wire of the fire and wired back authority to her local agent to represent her in the adjustment of the insurance. The insurance carried on the building is reported to be $4,000. The representative of the insurance companies carrying the risks on both the building and the contents arrived in the city Tuesday.

The Star Hotel was the station for the Greyhounds and several of the coaches made stops for meals at the hotel cafeteria.

The Star was the only hotel in the city, and its loss will be keenly felt.

PAPER COMPANY OCCUPIES FINE NEW OFFICE QUARTERS

Equipped With All Modern Conveniences

Last Saturday the office force at the Watervliet Paper Company plant moved into the fine new quarters at the west end of the new addition to the mill recently completed. The new offices are commodious and equipped with all modern conveniences for the carrying on of the business end of the industry. There is a large fireproof vault, steel filing cabinets, new desks, etc., for the use of the force. There are twelve members of the office staff.

A feature of the office equipment is the installation of a plant telephone system reaching every department of the mill, with a switchboard in the office whereby any one of the sixteen phones may be connected with the Bell system.

Work on the expansion program is going steadily forward and Superintendent C. O. Thorne says they hope to have the new paper machine in operation by May 1. Robert Lomax, of the J. H. Horne & Sons company, Lawrence, Massachusetts, who built the machine, has been at work three weeks now superintending the erection. He is being assisted by eight men, three of whom will be the machine tenders that will have charge of the operation of the machine.

Set Up Machine Here Seventeen Years Ago

Mr. Lomax had charge of the erection of the first machine in the plant of the Watervliet Paper Company seventeen years ago. This machine was also built by the Horne company.

LEAVE YOUR CAR AT HOME IF YOU HAVE NO NEW LICENSE

Sheriff Has Received Orders to Arrest All Who Drive With Old Plates

After a long distance telephone conversation with Secretary of State John Haggerty, County Treasurer George Haid announced on Monday that no further time could be given residents of Berrien, or any other county of Michigan to operate their motor cars with their 1926 licenses, and that arrests should follow if drivers persist in attempting to use their old plates.

This information was imparted to Sheriff Bryant who immediately announced that any persons who now drive their pleasure cars or their commercial cars without the new 1927 plates are subject to arrest. Saturday, January 15th, was originally set as the "dead line" for securing plates, then another week of grace was added, and during that time there was not a day but what a large number of Berrien county people might have secured their new licenses had they applied for them as the waiting list at the automobile license bureau at the courthouse since January 1st has at no time been very long.

It is announced that there are still several thousand unlicensed automobiles in Berrien county and the owners of these cars should not attempt to use them on the public highways until they secure their new licenses.

BENTON HARBOR MAN TAKEN ON FEDERAL COURT CHARGE

Hiram Adelberg of Benton Harbor, one of the former owners of the New York Outlet Store, and later of the Miracle Store, was arrested last week by federal officers on a charge of perjury and concealing assets in connection with bankruptcy proceedings of the New York Outlet Store. After the affairs of this store had been closed up, Adelberg opened up the Miracle Store under the name of other parties. A bond of $2,000 for the perjury charge was fixed by Justice Weldon and a bond for $3,000 on the charge of concealing bankruptcy assets.

Legion Auxiliary Entertained Guests At Its Installation

Members of Benton Harbor Legion and Auxiliary Visited Local Orders Last Monday Evening.

Between fifteen and twenty members of the Benton Harbor Unit of the American Legion and Auxiliary attended the installation of officers of the Coloma Unit of the Auxiliary Monday evening, January 24th, at the L. O. O. F. hall. Mrs. Carl Mitchell, past president of the visiting auxiliary, acted as installing officer.

Following the installation, a 6:30 two-course chicken dinner was served by members of the local auxiliary. This dinner had been prepared by Mrs. Lyle Mott, assisted by Mrs. Albert Rutkoskie, Mrs. Fred Borchert and Mrs. Ivan S. Ryno. The tables were beautifully decorated with red, white and blue streamers and at each place was a nut cup of the same colors and a tiny American flag. Between the courses the members and guests sang old and new songs. Fred Borchert, as song leader, brought many laughs from the crowd and started the ball rolling toward a very good time. The three waitresses, Mrs. Martin Kilmak, Mrs. C. R. Shannon and Mrs. Harry DeField, were quite alluring in their white dresses and red, white and blue aprons and headgear. The hall upstairs and downstairs was decorated with the national colors.

Among the visitors were Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Spawr, Dr. Spawr is a former president of the state Legion and gave a very interesting talk about the American Legion hospital at Battle Creek and various other things pertaining to the Legion and to the Auxiliary, urging the members to keep on with their work so that they might always be a help to those unfortunate ones who need help. Mrs. Kasilchke, president of the Benton Harbor Unit of the Auxiliary, and E. J. Lerch, commander of the Benton Harbor Post, gave short talks which everyone enjoyed. The Coloma quartet obliged the party with two songs which need no praise since everyone is acquainted with the quality of the harmony which they produced.

Dancing which ended the evening's entertainment, was interspersed with several vocal selections by Miss Fay Sandler of Benton Harbor and she was heartily applauded. The delightful dance music was furnished by Mrs. Madeline Morlock and Alf Umphrey.

On Friday, James Fleming of Benton Harbor was arraigned in Justice Weldon's court and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated, and Frank Baker, also of Benton Harbor, was given a twenty day sentence in the county jail on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct. FORD BUMPED BY TRUCK NARROWLY ESCAPED TRAIN

Ward Morlock and Family Had Close Call Last Friday Night

Struck by a truck and shoved to within a few inches of a passing passenger train was the terrifying experience that Ward Morlock and family had at the Terry crossing of the Pere Marquette on M-17 one mile east of Watervliet last Friday evening.

Mr. Morlock was driving a Ford sedan and with him were his wife and baby and his sister, Miss Mabel Morlock. They were driving toward Watervliet and had stopped about fifteen feet east of the tracks to await the passing of No. 10, due in Watervliet at 5 o'clock. A large truck and trailer belonging to the Caskeys Cattle company of Lansing, and bound for St. Joseph after castings, was following the Morlock car. The driver failed to observe the approaching train and made no plan to stop. When he did the heavy trailer buckled the rear end of the truck into the halted Ford shoving the light car and its passengers toward the tracks in front of the onrushing train. Mr. Morlock had the presence of mind to turn the steering wheel and steered the car into the guard fence alongside the highway. The Ford came to a stand still within a few inches of the train as it tore over the crossing, striking the fender of the Ford and slightly damaging the trailer of the truck.

MRS. C. C. ALGUIRE'S BUICK SEDAN STOLEN IN CHICAGO

Thieves Made Away With Machine With Doors and Transmission Locked.

Mrs. C. C. Alguire, owner and manager of the Coloma Theatre, is walking this week and there is deep grief in the Alguire home because of the loss of her fine Buick sedan which was purchased last fall.

Mrs. Alguire and her son-in-law and daughter, Postmaster and Mrs. Martin Kilmak, drove to Chicago on business last week and were just starting on their return trip and stopped at a film house near the corner of Ninth street and South Wabash avenue to attend to some affairs, parking the Buick there. They were in the film house but a few minutes and when they returned to the parking place were dumfounded to find that their car had disappeared as if by magic, and to make the theft the more surprising is the fact that the transmission in the machine and all of the doors were securely locked before the party left it.

Insurance was carried on the automobile, but this will not cover the entire loss as all of the clothing of Mrs. Alguire and Mrs. Kilmak, four fine robes, and some purchases left in the car were also taken. The theft was immediately reported to the police but no trace of the stolen car has yet been received.

EX-SHERIFF FRANZ AND BONDING CO. MUST PAY OVER SUM OF $3,718.63 IN DAMAGES

Judge Weimer Renders Decision on Case Heard in Berrien Circuit Court Last Week.

Ex-Sheriff Fred C. Franz, former Motorcycle Officer Milton G. Hinchman of Three Oaks and the Detroit Casualty & Surety Co., are held liable for the damages resulting from the killing of Royal Bostater of Allegan county, near Watervliet in November 1925, in an opinion denying motions to direct a verdict of no cause for action against the defendants by Judge George V. Weimer of Kalamazoo. Under-sheriff Frank Paget was not held liable.

Under Judge Weimer's ruling, Ex-Sheriff Franz and the surety company will be required to pay the judgment of $3,718.63 which a circuit court jury last week returned in favor of Mrs. Hazel A. Bostater, wife of the victim and administratrix of his estate, who sued the four defendants for $20,000.

Attorney John J. Sterling, and Attorney W. P. Harvey of the firm of Gore & Harvey, representing the defendants announced they would appeal to the state supreme court against the liability of Ex-Sheriff Franz and the Surety company. They were granted 90 days in which to perfect an appeal.

Attorney Clare Hoffman of Allegan, and Attorney A. P. Cady of Benton Harbor, represented Mrs. Bostater during the trial of the case last week. Judge Weimer directed a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, leaving the jury to decide only the amount of damages.

Discusses Duties

Judge Weimer's opinion handed down disposed of motions to direct a verdict of no cause for action against the three defendants ruling on which he reserved until after the verdict had been reached.

Briefly he held Hinchman's act to be in pursuance of his official capacity as deputy sheriff, asserting that special deputy has no less authority than a regular deputy, and that the special appointment can in no way limit or restrict the liability of the sheriff for his deputy's acts.

Judge Weimer added that if the sheriff is held liable, then the surety company which underwrites his bond, also must be liable.

Both parties conceded the liability of Hinchman, who was convicted of manslaughter last year and served seven months at Jackson for what was termed negligent and unwarranted use of firearms.

In directing a verdict of no cause for action against Paget, Judge Weimer said:

"There is no statutory liability on the part of Defendant Paget, no liability on his part, unless it can be said or inferred that he instructed Hinchman to shoot in the direction of any traveler refusing to submit to investigation, or, at least, that he contemplated that Hinchman in following his instructions might shoot in the direction of travelers refusing or failing to submit to investigation, so called. If this is the fair inference to be drawn from the facts, then it must follow that the shooting by Hinchman was in no sense the act of Paget, and that a verdict should have been directed in Paget's favor."

Paget in Charge

Paget was left in charge of the jail while Ex-Sheriff Franz was north deer hunting when the shooting occurred, and the former detailed Hinchman and another deputy to patrol the roads for the thieves who had been raiding farms in the vicinity of the Niles-Watervliet road.

Referring to the liability of Franz, Judge Weimer holds that a sheriff under the statute is liable for all official acts of his deputies, and that the undersheriff, who shall also be a general deputy, shall in all things, execute the office of sheriff if a vacancy occurs in the office of sheriff.

Continuing, the statute states, "Any default or misfeasance in office of such undersheriff in the meantime, as well as before, shall be deemed to be a breach of the condition of the bond given by the sheriff who appointed him, and also a breach of the condition of the bond executed by such undersheriff to the sheriff by whom he was appointed."

The opinion asserts that if Hinchman's shooting was deliberately intended to kill, then the sheriff could not be held liable; but maintains that the facts disclose he shot to cripple the car and not to endanger the occupants.

Paget's instructions, the opinion states, were such that Hinchman could very easily in the excitement and confusion of the moment depart from a lawful course of conduct to an unlawful one, and that is what he did. While intending and attempting to act lawfully, yet in his zeal and eagerness to get results for his superior, he was grossly negligent in firing the shots in the manner stated and in killing an innocent and unoffending traveler upon the highway.

BILL CARRIGAN PLAYING AGAIN

Piloted Red Sox to Two Pennants, Then Retired.

William F. Carrigan, who piloted the Boston Red Sox to two successive world championships in 1918 and 1919, returned to his home town, Lewiston, Me., to lead the comparatively humdrum life of a banker, in the harness again.

Bill accepted President Bob Quinn's offer of the management after a five-minute conference. He was promised the highest salary ever paid a Boston manager. It is understood, although no official figure was made public.

Carrigan was the original boy manager when he succeeded Jake Stahl at the helm of the Red Sox in 1918. Now at forty-three he will take up on the reins relinquished by Lee Fohl, whose regime saw the once pennant-winning aggregation finally entrenched in the cellar.

Carrigan first won big league attention by his work behind the plate for Holy Cross in 1906 and the same year saw him a regular with the Sox. He was named to the next season to Toronto, which then won the International League pennant.

When Lou Criger, the Red Sox catcher, broke his hand, Bill was made a regular. In 1913, when he was appointed manager, the team finished in fourth place.

The next year it was up in second, and in 1918 and 1919 the Sox not only carried off league honors, but whipped the Phillies and Dodgers, respectively, for the world title. Then Carrigan resigned.

During the heyday of his career he handled such stars as Ruth, Carl Mays, Dutch Leonard, Joe Wood, Ray Collins, Everett Ruess and Bill Wirtz, respectively, for the world title. Then Carrigan resigned.

Nearly all other nations have made similar treaties with Turkey, and there have been warnings of retaliatory action against the American interests in that country if the treaty were not ratified.

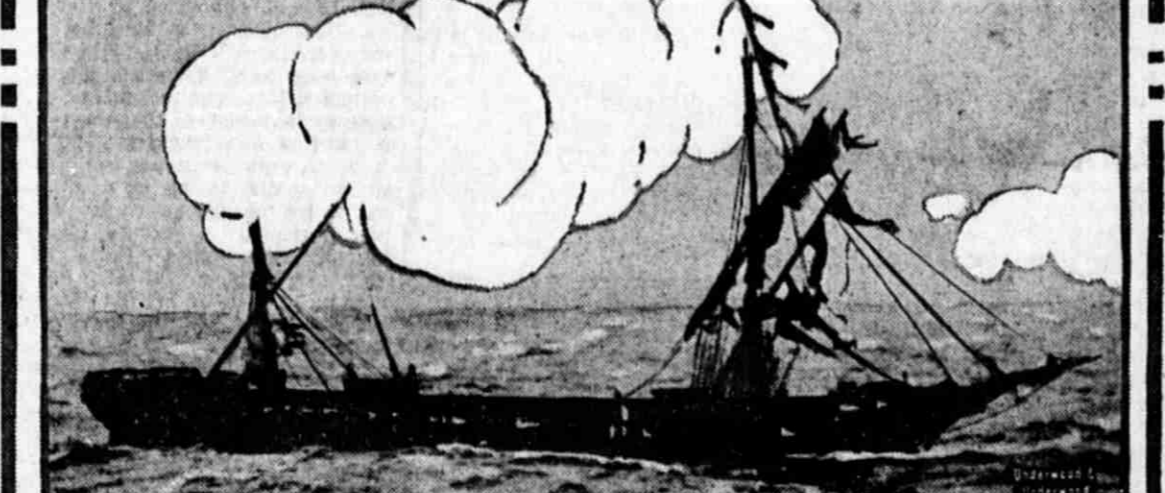

Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, Senators Swanwick and King led the opposition, contending that the past gives no historic guarantees of justice for Americans in Turkey without securing adequate safeguards in their place, that it in effect recognizes the Turkish refusal to recognize American nationality laws in so far as they affect Turkey who returns to their native land, that it falls adequately to protect the charitable and philanthropic enterprises of Americans in Turkey, and that it abandons American standing pledges that its independence would be secured.

Deputy Sheriff Acquitted

A case very similar to that heard in the Berrien circuit court last week, in which ex-Sheriff Franz, Under-sheriff Frank Paget and Deputy Sheriff Hinchman were sued for damages in the death of Royal Bostater, was heard in Ann Arbor last week when Deputy Sheriff Clyde West was charged with the fatal shooting of a 10-year-old lad who was charged with robbery while armed and who refused to stop when ordered to do so by the deputy. The jury rendered a verdict acquitting the officer on the grounds that he was performing his duty in the protection of life and property.

With the addition of the new aerial ladder equipment to the Benton Harbor fire fighting apparatus, the number of firemen on regular duty was deemed inadequate and at the session of the city commission last Monday City Manager Guy Tyler was given authority to add two more men to the force. Two homes on Chestnut street, on the outskirts of the city of Benton Harbor, were completely destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning and the families of N. B. Union and Lee Hickman were made homeless, escaping from the burning buildings in scant attire. The houses were located outside the city limits where the water supply was inadequate for the city fire department to cope with the blaze and chemicals were of little value.

BENTON HARBOR BUSINESS

BLOCK SOLD TO TROOST BROS.

A real estate deal involving about $40,000 was closed in Benton Harbor this week whereby the building on East Main street now occupied by Bahn Bros. shoe store was purchased by Troost Bros., who operate furniture stores in Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and Niles. The building will be entirely remodeled and will later be occupied by the furniture store, and it is said that Bahn Bros. will find another location. The building that is now occupied by the Troost Bros. store will be occupied by the J. C. Penny Co., who will expend a large sum of money in remodeling it and making it suitable for their department store which now occupies a room adjoining. The new room will give them double the space that they now have and will enable them to carry a much larger stock.

HIGHWAYS FOR KILOWATTS

Pointing the way to a permanent solution of the national farm problem through complete nationwide electrification of the rural districts, Arthur Williams, Vice President, Commercial Relations of the New York Edison company, in an address before the annual meeting of the Academy of Political Science, in New York, said: "Just as highways have been provided for vehicles, so highways must be provided for kilowatts and kilowatt hours. It is an economic, not a political question."

Although it represents at least 35,000,000 people and 58 billion dollars investment, farming is the only industry which still uses the methods of a century ago, while all other industries are keeping pace with invention and progress. Mr. Williams declared. Tariffs, cooperative societies and other measures by themselves, he said, offer no lasting solution, and the modernization of the farming industry by making cheap electric power available seems the necessary underlying remedy. To finance this tremendous project, in which the highways for electricity would alone cost about six billion dollars, Mr. Williams suggested as one possibility the issuance of tax exempt securities for rural electrification under some authority such as state public service commissions, and said that the whole-hearted cooperation of farmers, the public and the electric utilities would go far toward solving the problem.

ORANGES VS. APPLES

The orange went into business and the apple loafed around the old farm as a side issue without any particular aim in life, says the Research Department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers in explaining the troubles of apple growers and the prosperity of orange producers at the same time. When the organized citrus growers see a big crop coming, they get ready for it and have the mouths of enough new customers watering for their product to take care of it. That's business. The apple growers, however, have come along in sectional advances and reverses, paying little attention to trees being planted, trees coming into bearing, or what will happen when a big crop is to be harvested. Both groups spray, irrigate and subsoil where necessary, cultivate their orchards and scientifically battle their pest enemies. At marketing, however, there is a wide difference.

Big Audience Not So Much.

"De fact dat a speechmaker has a big audience," said Uncle Eben, "don't prove dat his talk is convinctin'. A lot o' folks is dar jes' to pass de time away."
