THE CANOE

Challenged by many breakthroughs in boating since its birth among prehistoric lake dwellers in Europe, the canoe has remained as a such-used means of travel on lakes and streams. Once indispensable to Michigan's early Indians, explorers, and fur traders, it is now riding the crest of popularity among thousands of recreationists who ply the state's waters each year. The canoe almost certainly made its way to our Western Hemisphere from Asia long before Columbus set foot in this country. Its shape and design are virtually the same as they were thousands of years ago. Today's popular metal canoe is modeled after the birch-bark hunting canoe used by the Great Lakes Chippewa Indians. It is light, rugged, and unsinkable and requires little upkeep.—Mich. Dept. of Conservation

MODERN PIRATES
TWELVE days and a run across the Atlantic, the killing of one man and the serious wounding of another made the log of the Portuguese ship Santa Maria as exciting as that of the tiny ships after which it was named, the flagship of Columbus in the year 1492, when he "sailed the ocean blue."

JUST A THOUGHT:
A man can lose his fortune and gain another; he can suffer disease and find the way back to health—but, once he speaks a lie, or says unkind things about another human being, he makes a mark in the book of life which can never be completely erased.

Columbus, it may be recalled, with knowledge superior to natives of San Salvador knowing of an eclipse of the sun, frightened the natives by threatening to blot out their bright sun, and then agreed to retreat when a shadow was seen to be spreading across the orb of day.

Columbus thus preyed upon the credulity of the natives. Henrique Galvao, leader of a band of rebels, dedicated to overthrow the dictator, Salazar, amazed the wide world by seizing the pride of the Portuguese shipping and planning to arouse African colonialists to rebellion.

But his plans failed in the end, and the Santa Maria has now resumed its schedule. Whatever the issues involved, it is to be seen that two wrongs do not make a right.

MODERN PIRATES
TWELVE days and a run across the Atlantic, the killing of one man and the serious wounding of another made the log of the Portuguese ship Santa Maria as exciting as that of the tiny ships after which it was named, the flagship of Columbus in the year 1492, when he "sailed the ocean blue."

JUST A THOUGHT:
A man can lose his fortune and gain another; he can suffer disease and find the way back to health—but, once he speaks a lie, or says unkind things about another human being, he makes a mark in the book of life which can never be completely erased.

Columbus, it may be recalled, with knowledge superior to natives of San Salvador knowing of an eclipse of the sun, frightened the natives by threatening to blot out their bright sun, and then agreed to retreat when a shadow was seen to be spreading across the orb of day.

Columbus thus preyed upon the credulity of the natives. Henrique Galvao, leader of a band of rebels, dedicated to overthrow the dictator, Salazar, amazed the wide world by seizing the pride of the Portuguese shipping and planning to arouse African colonialists to rebellion.

But his plans failed in the end, and the Santa Maria has now resumed its schedule. Whatever the issues involved, it is to be seen that two wrongs do not make a right.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

HELPING BABY SEE
By Dr. Alton N. Haffner
Director, Vision Conservation Institute

We don't know, exactly, how much baby can see at birth, probably nothing more than light and dark and vague shapes. We do know, however, that much of the eye mechanism needed for fine vision, is not developed completely in the new born baby.

At one month of age, baby is able to control the muscles of his eyes enough to follow an object for a short distance. During the second month, baby is able to follow the object in sight and follow it for a longer distance. He is able to focus his eyes better and to see more clearly.

There is much that a mother can do to help her baby's eyes develop properly. Here are a few pointers mother may keep in mind as she observes and cares for her new baby.

Place baby in his crib so that neither eye is favored as he looks about the room.

Encourage baby to use both eyes and both sides of his body in his play activities by placing toys so that neither eye is favored.

When baby has a fever, keep him from concentrating on close-up tasks, such as looking at a picture book or playing with blocks or any toys which require concentration.

Give baby as much freedom as possible for activities and experiences that are needed to make seeing meaningful.

Today, there is a strong trend toward preventive care in the field of vision. It is possible to foresee future health problems through regular eye examinations. In fact, it is best to plan the first professional eye examination at the age of three. At this age it is possible to determine whether there is tendency toward nearsightedness or farsightedness. At this age too it is possible to determine whether a child will need glasses as he grows and beginning to develop as he should.

An early examination also gives your doctor the records he needs for future comparison. At both the child and his vision develop and his eyes are exposed to the tasks of modern living, such as reading and television. Only regular eye examinations can determine what changes, if any, have taken place in the eyes.

Happily, most babies grow and develop and learn to see without any trouble.

ICE CREAM MORE SLENDERING NOW

People on slenderizing diets who also have a taste for ice cream are going to appreciate the reduced butterfat in ice cream permitted under amendments to Michigan's ice cream law, which took effect June 1, 1961.

The legal butterfat content of Michigan ice cream has been reduced from 12 percent to 10 percent. This is to bring it into line with federal standards. The law also was changed to permit use of yellow color in vanilla ice cream, which has been prohibited for the past 30 years in the state.

Another change is a tightening of sanitary standards which is contained by half what was formerly permitted. The new standards will be applied to the creamer since the weight of ice cream will remain at 4.5 pounds per gallon, because the total weight of food solids will remain the same.

A product under a new name will be ice milk, which also will be popular with the colorless content. Ingredients are the same as for ice cream except butterfat content will be only 2 to 7 percent, usually 4 percent. The product, according to Agricultural Director, S. McIntyre, is now widely sold in the state as sherbet in frozen form and also "soft frozen" products at drive-in stands. Under the amended law, fudge, ice cream, and similar products on a stick will be called frozen confections.

The state will permit free movement of ice cream and similar products, but will require inspection and approval by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, dairy division, headed by F. M. Skiver.

IT'S INCREASINGLY HARD TO GET DECENT DRINK OF WATER

It's becoming increasingly hard to get a decent drink of water. In many suburbs, wells and septic tanks plus viruses and modern detergents make conditions ripe for epidemics, according to Dr. Walter L. Mallman and Walter N. Mack, of the Michigan State University microbiology and public health department.

Cities which draw water from rivers also have a problem. Small but increasing amounts of detergents, insecticides, weed killers and other chemicals are being found in their water, reports Dr. C. Fred Gurnham, head of chemical engineering at MSU. Drs. Mallman and Mack recently reviewed hundreds of studies they and other scientists have made relating to contamination of underground water. Disease-causing bacteria travel through the ground with sewage for up to 100 feet or more, they report.

What's more, they suspect, viruses travel even further than the much-larger bacteria and that studies of synthetic detergents give a false picture of what actually happens. They say that in many suburban areas, syndets from septic tanks have entered wells and cause a head of suds to appear on water as it is drawn from the tap. These syndets, they believe, carry microbes in suspension.

DEBT POOLERS CAN BE FOOLERS

By Paul R. Adams
State Attorney General

If you are having trouble paying your bills due to inflation, layoffs or any other reason, be sure that anyone to whom you pay money for debt pooling will get you out of debt and not deeper in debt.

As a free American citizen, you have a right to hire a budget manager or a debt adjuster. But you should know that if the person you hire does not satisfactorily adjust your debts and carry out the glowing promises so often made, there is very little the law can do to help you out of your troubles.

Legislation is in the works to deal with this problem. Meanwhile, beware of debt poolers! Some are excellent, others are not. Be sure you know which is which before handing over your money to a stranger.

over $15 or $25 per week to a debt pooler, sound good but the results can be most sad.

My office has received complaints recently from persons who have conscientiously paid debt poolers the agreed upon sum for months only to find as many creditors as ever. In some cases the people have not been able to get any accounting of what happened to the money they paid to apply on past due debts.

NORTH BERRIEN'S FARM FRONT

"Give Milk a Break!" will be the theme at the Farm Bureau Center in Lansing during June Dairy Month. Michigan Dairy Princess, Miss Marjorie Mueller served the first glass of milk to Clarence Prentice, Sec'y-Manager of Michigan Farm Bureau, to initiate a "milk break" while Mrs. Gwen Zischke, Sec'y. of the 350 Employees Association of the Farm Bureau Center watches. Miss Mueller suggests that all organizations "get on the milk wagon with a milk break."

WISER USE OF CREDIT CAN INCREASE FARMER'S PROFITS
Wise use of credit can increase profits for the farmer.

Credit costs can be regarded as useless expenses the same as labor, feed and housing costs. But there is no need to do a good job to be profitable, the same as any other input.

Main use of credit is to help bring more returns from labor and management. This is possible by using someone else's money to expand the business to its most effective and efficient size.

Credit can be used for investments that last over several years or for operating capital that is to be returned within a short time. A wise manager can use this borrowed money to earn money profitably.

It is extremely important for a farmer to look at the use of his own money in the same way he would the use of borrowed money. Madas says. He still should invest for highest returns. A lender will force a farmer to liquidate to repay the loan if he can't keep up payments of interest and principal.

While a farmer may be a more lenient lender to himself than if he borrows from someone else, it still will be most profitable to invest for highest returns.

IDEAS FROM OTHER EDITORS

From The Brookfield Courier, Brookfield, New York: If the U.S. government suddenly started printing twice as many new one-dollar bills as it took out of circulation each year, everyone knows what would happen. We would have inflation of the worst kind.

Without realizing it, Americans are asking the government to do what amounts to much the same thing. They are demanding that Congress spend more and more money on more and more services and social welfare programs. If the government took in enough taxes to pay for the extra expenses, that would be one thing - but over the years the government has spent $290 billion more than it has taken in.

When the government needs money it doesn't have, it can deposit a promissory note in a commercial bank; then it writes checks against the deposit. People who receive the checks cash them, and the government has "created" money where none existed before. The effect is the same as if the government had printed that amount of new money without withdrawing any old money from circulation.

Of course, expansion of the money supply by the banking system is not in itself something to be condemned. In fact, as the country grows, we are sure to need more money to keep the economy operating. What is dangerous is the abuse of the money-creating facilities of the banks in order to expand government expenditures without collecting additional taxes. Such abuse is bound to lead to inflation and reduction in value of everybody's money.

51 DEATHS CAUSED SO FAR IN 1961 BY WATER ACCIDENTS

Seventy-five water accidents have already caused 51 deaths and injured 29 persons in Michigan this year, the State Police report, and the toll has emphasized the need for increased safety precautions as the water sports season heads toward its point of high activity.

Of the accidents, 43 were fatalities, 16 personal injury and 16 property damage only. The information is based on reports received from all police agencies through June 14.

The drownings include 21 who fell into water from bridges, banks, docks or piers, eight boat passengers, seven who fell through ice, five boat operators, eight swimmers or waders, one skin or scuba diver, and one who lost his life while trying to rescue another.

HOME FROM INDIANA

Mrs. Adelaide Hayes has returned from several days in Indiana, where she visited friends and attended the commencement activities at Wabash college, at Crawfordsville, where she was associated with educational work for 14 years before coming to Coloma.

By LYN CONNELLY

DON'T you often wonder what motivates certain decisions by the TV big-wigs in the matter of timing? For instance, there are so many western and other type of violence early in the evening, just before the kiddies go to bed . . . Then along comes a natural for kids like "Mr. Ed" and it's classified as prime time-for adults only . . . Howcum? We allowed our youngster to stay up late one week during spring vacation and we've been pestered ever since to see "Mr. Ed," which is one of the more clever shows to debut this season.

Like "The Flintstones," "Mr. Ed" is a good family show, enjoyed by both adults and children . . . Fortunately, "The Flintstones" is on at a reasonable hour, but not so the lovable talking horse and we wish something could be done to rectify the situation . . . Since the show switches networks next fall—from NBC to ABC—it's just possible that someone at ABC is bright enough to figure out that it belongs in an earlier time slot . . .

Francis Poulenc's "Gloria in G Major for Soprano, Chorus and Orchestra," which was given its world recording premiere by Angel Records on May 1st, has been judged the best choral work of 1960-61 by the Music Critics Circle of New York . . . In awarding its prizes this year, the Music Critics Circle considered the best new works performed during an extended period that included all of 1960 and the first four and a half months of 1961.

FATHER'S DAY PARTY

A Father's Day dinner party was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips on Haggar Road Sunday. The guests of honor were Charles Phillips, and Mrs. Phillips father, Floyd Selter Sr. Guests also included Mrs. James Phillips and family.

Area Scouting News

Mrs. Stephen Comitz, Den Mother in the Washington district cub pack, received the Den Mother's Service award at a recent meeting of the Wabash district at Camp Madron. To earn this award a Den Mother must serve for two consecutive years attending all training sessions, assign special work shops and Pow Wow meetings during that time.

Girl Scouts of the Coloma Township Neighborhood which includes troops from Washington, Clymer, Ingham, Riverside and Lake Michigan Beach districts began their Day Camp program Monday.

Fifty-six girls from this district have signed to attend the one-week session which is being held at Camp Warren. Leaders for the local troops are Mrs. Jewel Bratton, Mrs. John Leach, Mrs. Gilbert Smith, and assistant leader Mrs. Henry O. White. Mrs. Delmar Crain is director and Mrs. Floyd Hucko is assistant director.

Cub Scouts of the Ingham District, Pack 67 will enjoy a one o'clock co-operative dinner and treasure hunt at their Pack meeting on Sunday, June 25.

The meeting will be held at the club house at Lake Michigan Beach and will feature a treasure hunt following the dinner. Each den has built a treasure chest during regular den meeting sessions. The committee will pack a surprise in each chest and set up a mapped treasure hunt for the dens.

Pack 67 plans to sponsor a rummage sale on July 7th. The sale will be held in Coloma on the lot between the Lumber company and Mast's AG store. Anyone with rummage to donate may call the den mothers, Mrs. Gladys LaGalbo, Mrs. Allen Kniebes, Mrs. Elmer Haney or Mrs. Bill Gearhardt.

At their last Pack meeting, Pack 67 presented its charter to the Ingham PTA which is the sponsoring organization. The 11 Scout leaders and 42 Cub Scouts of the pack received registration cards at the meeting.

Coloma Cub Scouts of Pack 64 will hold their monthly Pack meeting at Lions Park Thursday, June 29th at 7:30 p.m. In case of rain the meeting will be held at the Congregational church. Games are planned for the Cubs. There will be a short business meeting according to the committee.

Cub Scouts of Den 4, Pack 64 enjoyed a hike and eat-out, "hobo" style, Tuesday forenoon, in the sand dunes northwest of Coloma and on the farm of Glenn Fisher. They searched for Indian relics in the dunes that are thought to have been old Indian camping sites and were rewarded in finding much flint. They were accompanied by Mrs. Walter Leedy.

Greenfield Village Days of '61

The sharp sound of Civil War musketry will ring out at Greenfield Village's Seventh Annual Midwest Muzzle Loaders Festival on Saturday and Sunday, June 24-25. Union and Confederate soldiers will contrast with pioneers and frontiersmen of the old west in an exciting, colorful spectacle. Demonstrations of Civil War ordnance, including two six-pounders, mortar and Gatling gun, will be given both days. The cannonading of these pieces will blend with the sharp crack of authentic rifles and pistols, bright parades, costumes and martial music to make two big days of historical nostalgia and fun.

Above, a smartly-clad Confederate muzzle loader unit kneels in the shadow of a caisson as they blaze away at explosive targets in friendly competition against Union soldiers. More than a dozen such military regiments will take part in target firing from noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Frontiersmen and other brightly-garbed historical figures will use unique targets the same hours on Saturday. The North and South military teams at the Greenfield Village event will take part in the July 22-23 reenactment of the First Battle of Bull Run in Virginia. Greenfield Village is near Detroit, Mich.
